Every applicant for a Saudi work visa must be examined at a medical centre approved by the GCC Health Ministers' Council (GAMCA) in the country of departure, or through the Wafid platform where it operates. The certificate is valid for three months and must be presented with the visa application. The employer pays the examination fee and the cost of any treatment required before travel; the fee may not be recovered from the worker. A worker certified unfit is not issued a visa and must return home at the employer's expense.
